

North Carolina Smoke-Free Law: Guide for Cigar Bars

What is the smoke-free law?

North Carolina's new smoke-free law prohibits smoking in many public places. As of January 2, 2010, enclosed areas of bars and restaurants must be smoke-free. There is an exception for cigar bars; see below. Under the new law, smoking is also not allowed in enclosed areas of lodging establishments, such as hotels, motels and inns, if the establishment prepares and serves food or drink. A lodging establishment may designate no more than 20% of its guest rooms as smoking rooms.

Why was the law passed?

When the N.C. General Assembly passed the new law, it included formal findings explaining that secondhand smoke, or the smoke released from the burning end of a cigarette and the smoke exhaled by the smoker, "has been proven to cause cancer, heart disease, and asthma attacks in both smokers and nonsmokers." In 2006, a report issued by the United States Surgeon General stated that "the scientific evidence indicates that there is no risk-free level of exposure to secondhand smoke." This means that breathing in even a small amount of smoke from someone else's cigarette, cigar or pipe could be harmful to you. The new law will protect people from the harm caused by secondhand smoke.

What does the law require me to do?

Beginning no later than 12:00 a.m. on January 2, 2010, a person in charge of a restaurant, bar or lodging establishment that is subject to the new smoke-free law must:

- Post the required no-smoking signs¹ in conspicuous locations,
- Remove indoor ashtrays and other smoking receptacles, and
- Direct any person who is smoking to extinguish the cigarette, cigar or other lighted tobacco item.

Even if a restaurant, bar or lodging establishment is already smoke-free, the venue still must post the required signs and remove any remaining indoor ashtrays.

Are there any restaurants or bars that do not have to follow the law?

Yes. The following types of restaurants and bars are not required to comply with the new smoke-free law:

Cigar bars: In order to qualify for this exception and allow smoking, the cigar bar must satisfy all of the following criteria:

- Gross revenue: The bar must generate:
 - 60% or more of its quarterly gross revenue from the sale of alcoholic beverages; and
 - 25% or more from the sale of cigars.
- Humidor: The bar must have a humidor – which is a box or room with constant humidity designed to store cigars or pipe tobacco on the premises.
- Underage: The bar must not allow individuals under age 21 to enter.
- Smoke: Smoke from the bar must not migrate from the bar to an enclosed area where smoking is prohibited under the state law, such as a restaurant.

¹ The Commission for Public Health adopted rules in October 2009. Among other things, the rules give detailed guidance on signage. The rules were finalized on December 17, 2009. Copies of free, downloadable signs and materials are available at www.smokefree.nc.gov or can be downloaded and printed through an office supply or sign store.

- Reporting: The bar must submit quarterly revenue reports to the Department of Health and Human Services, Division of Public Health.

Non-profit Private clubs and country clubs: In order to qualify for this exception, the club must satisfy all of the following criteria:

- Membership: The club must maintain selective members.
- Operations: The club must be operated by the members.
- Restricted service: The club must not provide food or lodging for pay to anyone who is not a member or a member's guest.
- Nonprofit status: The club must either be:
 - incorporated as a nonprofit corporation under state law (found in G.S. Chapter 55A); or
 - exempt from paying federal income tax under federal Internal Revenue Code.

Restaurants that are exempt from the state's sanitation laws: If a restaurant is not required to comply with the state's sanitation laws (found in G.S. Chapter 130A, Article 8, Part 6), it will not be required to comply with the new smoke-free law. If my business does not meet all of the criteria to be a cigar bar, do I need to comply with the law?

Yes. If your business does not meet all the criteria above to be considered a cigar bar, as defined by the law, you must comply with the law. You will have to post the required no-smoking signs, remove all indoor ashtrays and smoking receptacles, and direct anyone smoking to extinguish the cigarette, cigar or other item.

How will the law be enforced?

The owner or manager of the establishment is responsible for compliance and is required to direct a person who is smoking to extinguish the lighted tobacco product.

If a restaurant or bar is out of compliance, an employee or member of the public may call the CARE-LINE at 1-800-662-7030 (bilingual services are available in over 150 languages), 7 a.m. - 11 p.m., seven days a week. If calling between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m., you may leave a message and your call will be returned. Information about potential violations will be shared with local health directors who have responsibility for enforcement in their county. More information about enforcement is available by calling your local health department, by calling the toll-free information CARE-LINE at 1-800-662-7030 or by visiting www.smokefree.nc.gov.

What are the specific penalties for violating the smoke-free law?

Both the individual who continues to smoke in violation of the law as well as the business that fails to comply with the law may receive the following penalties:

- Individual
 - $50 fine for an infraction
- Business Owner
 - First Violation: Warning
 - Second Violation: Warning
 - Third and Subsequent Violations: Fine of not more than $200 per violation. Each day on which a violation of this law or rules adopted pursuant to this law occurs may be considered a separate and distinct violation.

Where can I get information about quitting smoking?
